

Look No Further Than a Lafayette Veterinarian For Good Pet Health Care

You're going to have a hard time choosing a good Lafayette veterinarian, as there are so many to choose from! Lafayette veterinarians are dedicated to the notion that your pet is a vital part of your family and is entitled to nothing less than the best in veterinary care, be it for an annual wellness checkup or a medical emergency.

At your pet's first visit to a Lafayette veterinarian, he or she will receive a thorough wellness examination and any vaccinations necessary to his or her particular stage of life. Your Lafayette veterinarian will check heart and lung function and your pet's eyes, ears and mouth for signs of illness. Your Lafayette veterinarian will also perform certain diagnostic tests to uncover any issues that may be hiding underneath the surface. Preventative medicine keeps future problems at bay!

Lafayette veterinarians also stress the importance of good oral health. Our pets develop dental and oral issues just as we do, and some of these issues, like ours, require immediate attention before they develop into something more serious. Your Lafayette veterinarian can advise you on the best treatment protocol for any problems that may be uncovered during your pet's initial examination.

Lafayette veterinarian practices provide certain general surgical services, such as spay and neuter and dental procedures. More specialized surgeries are referred to local veterinary specialists. During surgery, your pet will be monitored continuously for temperature and heart rate and oxygen and carbon dioxide levels. If the situation warrants, intravenous fluids and warming blankets will also be available. Your pet's comfort is of primary importance.

And speaking of your pet's comfort, some Lafayette veterinarians take pet comfort a step further by offering resort and spa services! In addition to traditional boarding and daycare services, your pet may enjoy supervised activities geared toward enrichment and socialization as well as some special, personalized pampering. While you're on vacation, your pet will receive special attention in a safe environment and learn valuable socialization skills.

Your Lafayette veterinarian can be a valuable partner in maintaining your pet's good health. Regular wellness checkups and attention to medical issues as they arise will help to keep your furry family member in top shape for many years to come. Doesn't your pet deserve the best? A Lafayette veterinarian will help you give your pet just that.
